

The image shows a screenshot of the Google homepage in a web browser. The browser's address bar shows 'google.es'. The main content area features the Google logo and a search bar. Below the search bar are two buttons: 'Recherche Google' and 'J'ai de la chance'. The browser's top-right corner contains navigation and utility icons. Several callout boxes with blue lines pointing to specific elements are present:

- Lien du moteur de recherche de Google: Points to the search bar.
- Recherche: Points to the search bar.
- Accès direct à Gmail: Points to the Gmail icon in the top-right corner.
- Accès direct au chercheur d'images: Points to the Images icon in the top-right corner.
- Gestion de comptes: Points to the account profile icon in the top-right corner.
- Panneau outils de Google: Points to the grid icon in the top-right corner.
- Chercher par voix: Points to the voice search microphone icon in the search bar.

The image shows a Google search interface for the query "la cellule". The search bar contains the text "la cellule" and the Google logo. Below the search bar, there are navigation tabs for "Tous", "Images", "Vidéos", "Actualités", "Maps", "Plus", "Paramètres", and "Outils". The search results show approximately 38,600,000 results in 0.58 seconds. The first result is a diagram titled "Structure d'une cellule végétale" with a sub-heading "Cellule végétale - Wikipedia". Below the diagram, there is a snippet of text and a link to the Wikipedia page. At the bottom, there is a section for "Autres questions posées" with two questions: "Qu'est ce qu'est une cellule ?" and "Quels sont les éléments qui composent une cellule?".
